THE EDDY IS A REAL REFRIGERATOR WITH SLATE-STONE SHELVES

Not an imitation. Not an experiment. Not a hollow sham. Not made for a parlor ornament. Not made to suit somebody's fancy. Not made with open joints filled with cement to absorb grease and odors, and make your refrigerator a germ breeder.

But, made for what a real refrigerator is intended for, that is to keep food pure and sweet with the least amount of ice consistent to obtain a perfect circulation of pure, cold, dry air. The inside lining is air-tight; nothing can penetrate back of it to breed disease and germs.

HIGH FALLS INSTALLATION.

Impressive Service When Mr. Swither Becomes Pastor.

A most interesting event was celebrated in the Reformed Church on Thursday. From the church the view which presented itself to the eye was one of wondrous beauty. The fields of woods near hills and the quiet little village lay bathed in the June sunshine, while in the distance the mountains stood outlined against the blue sky. These words of the poet Lowell as found in the Vision of Sir Lounful seemed to most fitly describe the day: "And what so rare as a day in June."

Within the church, prettily decorated with flowers, a most solemn and impressive scene was enacted at half past two when the Rev. Swither was installed as pastor. The Rev. Durley of Hurley conducted the service which was opened by the singing of that well known hymn, "The Church's One Foundation." This was followed by the Scripture reading from Mark 6 and a prayer by Rev. Fortner. The Rev. Herman Hageman of Claverack, one of the former pastors of the church, then delivered the sermon. His text was taken from Mark 6:7. At the conclusion of the sermon Rev. Hageman led in prayer. The choir then rendered a selection. Rev. MacNair of Stone Ridge, then gave the charge to the people. After this the Rev. Beckman of Rosendale then gave the charge to the people. After the address by Rev. Beckman the installation took place. Rev. Durley of Hurley conducted the service. There were eight pastors present and it was a most solemn and impressive scene as they all came forward and laid their hands on Rev. Swither's head as he knelt to take the vow of service. After the installation all joined in singing a closing hymn, "Beneath the Cross of Jesus." Our pastor, Rev. Swither, then pronounced the benediction.

Frank Depuy, who has been visiting his mother, returned to his home in the west the past week. Regents' examinations in all subjects required for entrance to high schools will be given in the High Falls public school on the following days, commencing June 15, the program being as follows: Monday morning, spelling; Tuesday morning, arithmetic; Tuesday afternoon, elementary English; Wednesday afternoon, elementary history and civics. ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, June 15.—William Deyo of Napanoch pitched the game for Princeton University on Saturday when they were defeated by Yale 3 to 0. President Wilson was in attendance at the game. This makes one game won by each team and the deciding game will be played in New York June 23.

The O. & W. team of Middletown very easily defeated the Ellenville Regulars by a score of 13 to 4 Saturday afternoon at the Driving Park. It would seem that the Ellenville team will have to have a change in several positions filling with new men before they make headway this year.

The Pythian Sisters of Awosting Lodge entertained the members of the district convention at Awosting Temple, Thursday afternoon and evening last. There were a large number of delegates from various temples in the district present at the convention. The floor degree work was put on by the degree team from Kingston Temple and was considered by all to have been the finest work ever witnessed in this section.

CHAUFFEUR INJURED.

Car Turned Over on Say on Blue Mountain Road.

Edwin Say, chauffeur for Father Hesselman, was injured late Saturday afternoon when the forward spring of the Ford automobile in which he was riding snapped when the car struck an obstruction on the Blue Mountain road about four miles west of Saugerties. Two passengers were in the car with Say at the time of the accident but they escaped with bruises and a shaking up. The car turned over throwing them out and pinning Say under the car. Clinton Finger of Mount Marion, who passed that way in his automobile, helped the passengers in removing the car from Say's body and placing the injured man in his machine hurried him to Saugerties where he was attended to by Dr. Rudolph Dierling. Say's injuries are not expected to prove serious.

Malia created a little excitement by starting a fight with Bert Whitaker for a little fun, but was soon stopped by Officer Kistner, who placed him under arrest. After he was sentenced he started with the prisoner for Kingston. While at the Saugerties station the prisoner started to beat up the officer but was finally subdued. Malia is considered a bad customer in Saugerties.

SAHLER TENNIS CLUB WINS.

Again Defeats Port Ewen Club, 3 Matches to 2.

On Saturday the fast Sahler Club of this city defeated the Port Ewen Tennis Club on the local club's courts, by winning three matches out of five. The out of town boys began well by taking the first match by the score of 6-3. In this match Muyskens and T. Gillett clearly outplayed R. Schoonmaker and Lounsbury.

In the next (singles) S. Hornbeck beat H. Houghtaling, 6-2. Following this match came the third tilt of the afternoon, in which D. Gillett and Houghtaling defeated R. Schoonmaker and S. Hornbeck, by the score of 6-3. The former pair played a very steady game and Gillett's chop stroke bothered the losers considerably. With the matches standing two to one against them, V. Elzy, of the local club, tied the count by defeating Muyskens, 6-1. Elzy then continued his good work by pairing with Lounsbury in the last doubles match and this combination defeated V. D. Gillett and S. V. Aken by the score of 6-2.

A large gallery of interested spectators witnessed the matches.

SLASHING AFFRAY.

Two Italians Use Razors After Battle of Words.

Two Italians, whose names are unknown, got into an argument on the street at Steep Rocks on Saturday afternoon and from a wordy battle resorted to force and both drew razors and started to slash each other up. One Italian was more successful at that style of fighting and cut his opponent so badly that he was hurried to Rondout and Dr. A. Stern attended to his injuries. His entire arm from the shoulder to the wrist was one mass of cuts and slashes. What the argument started over is not known.

Children's Day at Trinity.

Children's Day was observed at Trinity Methodist Church at both morning and evening services Sunday. At the morning service the pastor, the Rev. C. C. Marshall, baptized 28 children, 14 of the number being infants. There was special music by the large vested choir, assisted by the children of the Sunday school. The pastor preached a short sermon to the children, his subject being "The Two Roads." At the evening service the choir and Sunday school rendered a special musical program and there were a number of interesting and pleasing recitations by members of the school. Large congregations were in attendance at both services. At the evening service every seat was occupied and a number were obliged to stand. Children's Day, 1914, will long be remembered as a happy day in the history of the Sunday school. The church auditorium was decorated with cut flowers and plants, and presented a very attractive appearance.

Progress.
 "The rolling stone gathers no moss," is a timeworn proverb, but, after all, it may well be questioned whether moss gathering is the highest use to which a stone can be put. The stones that grind the meal for man's bread are not less valuable because they are uncoated with moss and the man who refuses to move along the road of general progress or helpfulness because it may interfere with his chance to accumulate for himself is not an ideal citizen.—Selected.

SAHLER TENNIS CLUB WINS.

Again Defeats Port Ewen Club, 3 Matches to 2.

On Saturday the fast Sahler Club of this city defeated the Port Ewen Tennis Club on the local club's courts, by winning three matches out of five. The out of town boys began well by taking the first match by the score of 6-3. In this match Muyskens and T. Gillett clearly outplayed R. Schoonmaker and Lounsbury.

In the next (singles) S. Hornbeck beat H. Houghtaling, 6-2. Following this match came the third tilt of the afternoon, in which D. Gillett and Houghtaling defeated R. Schoonmaker and S. Hornbeck, by the score of 6-2. The former pair played a very steady game and Gillett's chop stroke bothered the losers considerably. With the matches standing two to one against them, V. Elzy, of the local club, tied the count by defeating Muyskens, 6-1. Elzy then continued his good work by pairing with Lounsbury in the last doubles match and this combination defeated V. Gillett and S. Van Aken by the score of 6-2.

A large gallery of interested spectators witnessed the matches.

SLASHING AFFRAY.

Two Italians Use Razors After Brawl of Words.

Two Italians, whose names are unknown, got into an argument on the street at Steep Rocks on Saturday afternoon and from a wordy battle resorted to force and both drew razors and started to slash each other up. One Italian was more successful at that style of fighting and cut his opponent so badly that he was hurried to Rondout and Dr. A. Stern attended to his injuries. His entire arm from the shoulder to the wrist was one mass of cuts and slashes. What the argument started over is not known.

Children's Day at Trinity.

Children's Day was observed at Trinity Methodist Church at both morning and evening services Sunday. At the morning service the pastor, the Rev. C. C. Marshall, baptized 28 children, 14 of the number being infants. There was special music by the large vested choir, assisted by the children of the Sunday school. The pastor preached a short sermon to the children, his subject being "The Two Roads."

At the evening service the choir and Sunday school rendered a special musical program and there were a number of interesting and pleasing recitations by members of the school. Large congregations were in attendance at both services. At the evening service every seat was occupied and a number were obliged to stand. Children's Day, 1914, will long be remembered as a banner day in the history of the Sunday school. The church auditorium was decorated with cut flowers and plants, and presented a very attractive appearance.

Progress.

"The rolling stone gathers no moss," is a timeworn proverb, but, after all, it may well be questioned whether moss gathering is the highest use to which a stone can be put. The stones that grind the meal for man's bread are not less valuable because they are uncoated with moss and the man who refuses to move along the road of general progress or helpfulness because it may interfere with his chance to accumulate for himself is not an ideal citizen.—Selected.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 15, 1914.

That champion of English pure and undefiled, the New York Sun, asserts that "leading Chicago bankers say that they have considered the Lorrimer bank a sore spot in the local financial horizon for some time." There is no more distressing spectacle than a horizon disfigured with sores, and when it is observed by bankers or others they should run for the court-plaster.

Nearly $55,000,000 in gold has been shipped from this country to Europe since January 1, and it is believed that the flow will continue indefinitely. If the quantitative theory regarding the purchasing power of money, in which almost everybody believes, is correct, these exports of specie will eventually make a dollar go further in the market. In other words, the cost of living will decrease. This is a fine prospect but for the fact that the price of labor also has a habit of going down under such conditions, and usually falls faster and more promptly than the price of commodities. We shouldn't wonder if the Wilson administration might yet be able to "point with pride" to a reduction in the cost of living, but it will come about in a mighty unpopular way.

Senator "Jim Ham" Lewis of Illinois may be a sort of international joke, but he has shown good sense in dropping the "James" from his name and announcing that he will hereafter be known simply as "Hamilton Lewis." He has distinguished precedents in the actions of Stephen Grover Cleveland, Thomas Woodrow Wilson and others. Nobody needs more than one baptismal name, but for the sake of euphony, that name should have more than one syllable. If the Lewis name is dropped, otherwise the combination is suggestive of Chinese origin. Any one in the same situation as the gentleman mentioned should make a thorough job of it and not reduce his front name to an initial, since the general public, like the old illiterate in the anecdote, has no use for anybody who "parts his name in the middle," with the one exception of E. Pluribus Unum.

For many years the residents of New York in the vicinity of Trinity Place have been drinking water from an old pump, and have attributed extraordinary medicinal virtues to the fluid. Recent subway excavations have shown that the pump did not rest in a spring, as supposed, but was connected with the regular municipal water system by an automatic valve put in long ago and forgotten by everybody. Exactly the same water, only a little cleaner, could have been obtained by any of the users at the taps in their own buildings. Nevertheless, it is difficult to confute the mass of testimony regarding the curative and rejuvenating qualities of the water, although it is obvious that the benefits obtained must have resulted solely through the workings of fancy. Light is thrown upon the testimonials which the vendors of patent medicines find it so easy to secure, and upon the claims of Christian Scientists. There is indicated a field of usefulness for the Busy Street Liar, who now works only mischief. Let him circulate stories to the effect that life-giving water may be had from certain pumps or taps or by breathing the air on certain street corners. Thus many victims of illness will be restored to health without employing doctors, buying patent medicines or paying fees to "healers."

There is considerable worry in Administration circles over the discovery that the income tax on individuals is producing only about $30,000,000, whereas it was expected to bring in at least $55,000,000. It is suspected that rightful taxpayers have sent in false returns or none at all. Official Washington appears to be greatly surprised, although predictions of this very result were made by everybody who gave any thought to the subject. It has been decided to send spies to detect these delinquents. Obviously, it will be necessary for them to nose into the affairs of honest men as well as sinners, and all of us, whether we get $1,000 a year or not, are subject to visitations from political heelers who have gotten on the payroll of the treasury department. Many of our citizens have such gifts for management that they can live on fifteen dollars a week in such style as to create the impression that they receive several thousand dollars a year, and it will be a hardship to expose them to their neighbors. The secrecy which is supposed to envelop these disclosures is more or less of a sham. The sort of man who will take a job as a spy can be relied upon to give information to anybody who makes it worth his while.

FOR CHILDREN'S DAY.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

The month of May is a busy time in Copenhagen, Denmark; indeed, preparations begin early in the year for the annual Bornsholjepsdag (Children's Aid day), when the city's pursestrings are recklessly loosened to fill the 30,000 or more tin collection boxes that are distributed broadcast to raise funds for poor children.

The boxes are fashioned like steins, with a little slot at the top into which the offerings are dropped, and from the earliest morning hour till the midnight stroke is heard the contributions go rattling in.

We have our "tag days" and our special days of one sort and another when dimes and dollars are gathered in for hospitals and the like, but nothing that quite approaches the Children's Aid day. For it is not alone that the whole city is interested, from members of the royal family down to the humblest of all, but that it has grown into a merry springtime carnival, the spirit in the air and the hearts bountifully reaching out to the little folk who are in need of help in the very springtime of life.

Small wonder that preparations are in the air while the year is very young, because songs must be written to be sung when the great day is at hand, costumes and floats must be arranged for the parade, entertainments and concerts planned and postal cards designed for sale on the streets. Then there are the tents to erect in the larger squares, where cakes and tea are sold and where small articles are alluringly arrayed to tempt more and still more coins from pockets carefully filled at the start and prodigally emptied before the close of the day. And some of the regular places of amusement merrily go on, with the day's receipts turned into the general fund. Booths spring up here and there, street-cars are gay with the bright Danish flags; and not a public building, scarcely a private house, escapes the twining of evergreens and flags. And as for the boxes, they are conveniently placed in every house, car, so a contribution may jingle in, along with the fare, in the shops and on the corners—they even come dropping down from upstairs windows, whence someone has laughingly lowered them on a string. For the carnival spirit is in the very air.

And, particularly to the stranger, it must make a fascinating day from start to finish. For there are the students in their distinctive white caps, the little and big daughters of Denmark, blue of eye and flaxen of hair, many of them dressed in national costume, the May-pole dances by boys and girls, in the pretty home-costume again, and the strange sights and sounds at every hand. Maybe a whiff of hot waffles will lure the stranger to a booth where young women from a cooking-school are making and selling the tempting concoction to appreciative patrons. Perhaps a strain of martial music will call him to an open square where the music corps of the Royal Guard is rendering selections or possibly a bit of song will float his way from a tent where a well known singer is trilling away for the small folk of Denmark. And it is all to the accompaniment of jingling coins, for everyone is dancing or singing or working for money on Children's Aid day, the little and the big, the great, the near-great, and those not great at all.

And then at about noon will come the great parade, with its curious, distracting display of almost everything. But perhaps the most interesting of all to grown-ups and children alike are the floats representative of scenes from the fairy tales of Hans Christian Andersen, "The Chimney Sweep," and all. For Copenhagen was the home of that charming weaver of tales for children, and while his name and his stories are known to little folk all over the civilized world they are especially dear to the little Danes, whose parents were familiar with the quaint, ungraceful figure that hid a heart overflowing with love for lovely things, among which he reckoned the children. So of course the collection-boxes carried by the fairies and folk from his stories are filled and filled again.

All told, it's a merry, merry day, and the practice, started many years ago, has grown so fast and so well that machines are used to count the money when the great tide is all in for little Danish children who have no coins of their own.

And Sweden has just such a gala day, with no lack of devices to win the gold and silver contributions destined to carry Swedish boys and girls along another year on the road to health and preparedness for life later on.

Sweden's Children's Day was inaugurated for the purpose of raising funds to support summer colonies for poor children, and these yearly outings are largely brought about by the funds raised on that one day. Sweden is not over-rich in millionaires to endow its institutions, and so little tin boxes are scattered in public places, and city streets are transformed for the sake of more comfort, better growth and happiness for Swedish children.

And the children themselves are delighted with the glory and splendor of the day in which they figure very largely, in the making of fun and the gathering-in of the dollars. FRANCES SHAFFER.

GRAY SCALDED TO DEATH

Benjamin Gray, an engineer in the employ of Winston & Company at Brown's Station, died in the camp hospital on Sunday evening from injuries received in a railroad collision at that place on Saturday. According to the story as told Gray's train lay in on a siding and started to pull on the main track as another work train was passing. The fireman, who was an Italian, leaped when he saw the two trains coming together and escaped without injury. Gray, however, remained at his lever and when the impact broke the boiler of his engine he was deluged with scalding water and escaping steam. He was removed to the hospital and when the doctor attempted to remove his clothing the flesh adhered to the cloth and came away with it. The accident happened near one of the dykes the company is erecting for the Ashokan reservoir and on the narrow gauge railroad used to carry the material to the work.

ALBANIAN REBELS ARE REPULSED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Durazzo, Albania, June 15.—Albanian rebels attacked this city today but were repulsed in a battle that raged for fifteen hours.

During the greater part of the fight the defenders were led by Prince William of Wied, the new king of Albania, who took command when Major Thomson, the Dutch commander of the Gendarmierie was killed early in the fight.

Part of the time Prince William was on the firing line while bullets from the rebels' guns dropped all around him.

At one time the rebels were within five hundred yards of the city.

Three attacks were made on the capital 4 o'clock this morning and throughout the day the conflict went on fiercely. The rebels finally withdrew at 8 o'clock this morning.

An old negro, who was the only Baptist in the neighborhood, always "stuck up for his own faith," and was "dy with a reason for it, although he 'as unable to read a word. KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 15, 1914.

That champion of English pure and undefiled, the New York Sun, asserts that "leading Chicago bankers say that they have considered the Lorimer bank a sore spot in the local financial horizon for some time." There is no more distressing spectacle than a horizon disfigured with sores, and when it is observed by bankers or others they should run for the court-plaster.

Nearly $55,000,000 in gold has been shipped from this country to Europe since January 1, and it is believed that the flow will continue indefinitely. If the quantitative theory regarding the purchasing power of money, in which almost everybody believes, is correct, these exports of specie will eventually make a dollar go further in the market. In other words, the cost of living will decrease. This is a fine prospect but for the fact that the price of labor also has a habit of going down under such conditions, and usually falls faster and more promptly than the price of commodities. We shouldn't wonder if the Wilson administration might yet be able to "point with pride" to a reduction in the cost of living, but it will come about in a mighty unpopular way.

Senator "Jim Ham" Lewis of Illinois may be a sort of international joke, but he has shown good sense in dropping the "James" from his name and announcing that he will hereafter be known simply as "Hamilton Lewis." He has distinguished precedents in the actions of Stephen Grover Cleveland, Thomas Woodrow Wilson and others. Nobody needs more than one baptismal name, but, for the sake of euphony, that name should have more than one syllable. If the name is too long, it is otherwise the combination is suggestive of Chinese origin. Any one in the same situation as the gentleman mentioned should make a thorough job of it and not reduce his front name to an initial, since the general public, like the old illiterate in the anecdote, has no use for anybody who "parts his name in the middle," with the one exception of E. Pluribus Unum.

For many years the residents of New York in the vicinity of Trinity Place have been drinking water from an old pump, and have attributed extraordinary medicinal virtues to the fluid. Recent subway excavations have shown that the pump did not rest in a spring, as supposed, but was connected with the regular municipal water system by an automatic valve put in long ago and forgotten by everybody. Exactly the same water, only a little cleaner, could have been obtained by any of the users at the taps in their own buildings. Nevertheless, it is difficult to confute the mass of testimony regarding the curative and rejuvenating qualities of the water, although it is obvious that the benefits obtained must have resulted solely through the workings of fancy. Light is thrown upon the testimonials which the vendors of patent medicines find it so easy to secure, and upon the claims of Christian Scientists. There is indicated a field of usefulness for the Busy Street Liar, who now works only to effect. Let him circulate stories to the effect that life-giving water may be had from certain pumps or taps or by breathing the air on certain street corners. Thus many victims of illness will be restored to health without employing doctors, buying patent medicines or paying fees to "healers."

There is considerable worry in Administration circles over the discovery that the income tax on individuals is producing only about $30,000,000, whereas it was expected to bring in at least $55,000,000. It is suspected that rightful taxpayers have cast in false returns or none at all. Official Washington appears to be greatly surprised, although predictions of this very result were made by everybody who gave any thought to the subject. It has been decided to send spies to detect these delinquents. Obviously, it will be necessary for them to nose the affairs of honest men as well as those of dishonest ones, and all of us, whether we are a year or not, are subject to the gaze from political heelers when on the payroll of Government. Many of these such gifts for management that they can live on fifteen dollars a week in such style as to create the impression that they receive several thousand dollars a year, and it will be a hardship to expose them to their neighbors. The secrecy which is supposed to envelop these disclosures is more or less of a sham. The sort of man who will take a job as a spy can be relied upon to give information to anybody who makes it worth his while.

FOR CHILDREN'S DAY.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

The month of May is a busy time in Copenhagen, Denmark; indeed, preparations begin early in the year for the annual Børnehjælpsdag (Children's Aid day), when the city's pursestrings are recklessly loosened to fill the 30,000 or more tin collection boxes that are distributed broadcast to raise funds for poor children.

The boxes are fashioned like steins, with a little slot at the top into which the offerings are dropped, and from the earliest morning hour till the midnight stroke is heard the contributions go rattling in.

We have our "tag days" and our special days of one sort and another when dimes and dollars are gathered in for hospitals and the like, but nothing that quite approaches the Children's Aid day. For it is not alone that the whole city is interested, from members of the royal family down to the humblest of all, but that it has grown into a merry springtime carnival, the spirit in the air and the hearts bountifully reaching out to the little folk who are in need of help in the very springtime of life.

Small wonder that preparations are in the air while the year is very young, because songs must be written to be sung when the great day is at hand, costumes and floats must be arranged for the parade, entertainments and concerts planned and postal cards designed for sale on the streets. Then there are the tents to erect in the larger squares, where cakes and tea are sold and where small articles are alluringly arrayed to tempt more and still more coins from pockets carefully filled at the start and prodigally emptied before the close of the day. And some of the regular places of amusement merrily go on, with the day's receipts turned into the general fund. Booths spring up here and there, Danish flags; and not a public building, scarcely a private house, escapes the twining of evergreens and flags. And as for the boxes, they are everywhere. They are everywhere, to cars, to a continuation may jingle in, along with the fare, in the shops and on the corners—they even come dropping down from upstairs windows, whence someone has laughingly lowered them on a string. For the carnival spirit is in the very air.

And, particularly to the stranger, it must make a fascinating day from start to finish. For there are the students in their distinctive white caps, the little and big daughters of Denmark, blue of eye and flaxen of hair, many of them dressed in national costume, the May-pole dances by boys and girls, in the pretty home-costume again, and the strange sights and sounds at every hand. Maybe a whiff of hot waffles will lure the stranger to a booth where young women from a cooking-school are making and selling the tempting concoction to appreciative patrons. Perhaps a strain of martial music will call him to an open square where the music corps of the Royal Guard is rendering selections or possibly a bit of song will float his way from a tent where a well known singer is trilling away for the small folk of Denmark. And it is all to the accompaniment of jingling coins, for everyone is dancing or singing or working for money on Children's Aid day, the little and the big, the great, the near-great, and those not great at all.

And then at about noon will come the great parade, with its curious, distracting display of almost everything. But perhaps the most interesting of all to grown-ups and children alike are the floats representative of scenes from the fairy tales of Hans Christian Andersen, "The Chimney Sweep," and all. For Copenhagen was the home of that charming weaver of tales for children, and while his name and his stories are known to little folk all over the civilized world they are especially dear to the little Danes, whose parents were familiar with the quaint, ungraceful figure that hid a heart overflowing with love for lovely things, among which he reckoned the children. So of course the collection-boxes carried by the fairies and folk from his stories are filled and filled again.

All told, it's a merry, merry day, and the practice, started many years ago, has grown so fast and so well that machines are used to count the money when the great tide is all in for little Danish children who have no coins of their own.

And Sweden has just such a gala day, with no lack of devices to win the gold and silver contributions destined to carry Swedish boys and girls along another year on the road

to health and preparedness for life later on.

Sweden's Children's Day was inaugurated for the purpose of raising funds to support summer colonies for poor children, and these yearly outings are largely brought about by the funds raised on that one day. Sweden is not over-rich in millionaires to endow its institutions, and so little tin boxes are scattered in public places, and city streets are transformed for the sake of more comfort, better growth and happiness for Swedish children.

And the children themselves are delighted with the glory and splendor of the day in which they figure very largely, in the making of fun and the gathering-in of the dollars. FRANCES SHAFFER.

GRAY SCALDED TO DEATH

Benjamin Gray, an engineer in the employ of Winston & Company at Brown's Station, died in the camp hospital on Sunday evening from injuries received in a railroad collision at that place on Saturday. According to the story as told Gray's train lay in on a siding and started to pull on the main track as another work train was passing. The fireman, who was an Italian, leaped when he saw the two trains coming together and escaped without injury. Gray, however, remained at his lever and when the impact broke the boiler of his engine he was deluged with scalding water and escaping steam. He was removed to the hospital and when the doctor attempted to remove his clothing the flesh adhered to the cloth and came away with it. The accident happened near one of the dykes the company is erecting for the Ashokan reservoir and on the narrow gauge railroad used to carry the material to the work.

ALBANIAN REBELS ARE REPULSED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Durazzo, Albania, June 15.—Albanian rebels attacked this city today but were repulsed in a battle that raged for fifteen hours.

During the greater part of the fight the defenders were led by Prince William of Wied, the new king of Albania, who took command when Major Thomson, the Dutch commander of the Gendarmerie was killed early in the fight.

Part of the time Prince William was on the firing line while bullets from the rebels' guns dropped all around him.

At one time the rebels were within five hundred yards of the city.

ALBANIA REBELS
ATTACK DURAZZO

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Durazzo, Albania, June 15.—An army of Albanian rebels attacked this city early today and fierce fighting is now in progress.

The government of Prince William of Wied, the newest in Europe, will probably be overthrown unless foreign troops take a hand and drive off the insurgents.

Hundreds of residents of the city have taken refuge upon the foreign warships and merchantmen in the harbor and others have sought shelter in foreign consulates.

Rebel forces, most of whom were followers of Essad Pascha, a Mussulman, have been concentrating in the mountains east and northeast of this city and during the darkness of early morning they moved upon the eastern outposts in a surprise attack.

Heavy rifle fire aroused the city from sleep and reinforcements were immediately rushed to the outposts to support the hard pressed regulars. The small arm fire became incessant at daybreak and as soon as the position of the main bodies of rebels were located, artillery was turned upon them.

Bullets swept the city and shells from the old fashioned cannon captured by the rebels at Tirana last week did much damage to buildings. The rebels did not regard the foreign flags, but swept the entire city.

Prince William was in the palace when the battle broke, but his friends urged him to go on board a warship. The defenses of the city were regarded as weak and the capture of the city a strong probability.

The attack today comes as the climax of an uprising which followed the accession of Prince William to the throne of Albania. The Albanians are naturally a war-like race and objected to outside interference in their domestic affairs. They refused to pay taxes and the thousands of Mohammedans among the population refused to recognize Prince William because he is a Christian.

INGLORIOUS DEFEAT.

Mince Pie Cause of Downfall of Freeman Ball Tossers.

Because the members of The Freeman team refused to follow able advice and persisted in demolishing three mince pies, four bottles of soda pop, and a dozen frankfurters apiece they went down to an inglorious defeat at the Athletic Field on Saturday afternoon when the ball tossers of the Leader won the game by a score of 10 to 9. The opening paragraph of this story tells the sad tale. The Freeman players were top heavy and were not as speedy as usual. As the war correspondent remarked sadly after the game "I knew those mince pies would prove as lead to their feet" and as the game showed they did.

If, and by the way that "if" always plays an important part in the history of the world, they had only not indulged until after the game what a different ending it would have been. Not only did the ball tossers of The Freeman lose the game but Saturday night they lost considerable sleep as their over-taxed digestive organs rebelled at the strain they had been subjected to. Fortunately it was not necessary to call a doctor and they were all able to report for work today.

The Leader team is still busy patting itself on the back, but then they will not know the real reason of their victory until they read these few lines in tonight's paper. But let them beware, they will find the ball tossers of The Freeman will know better next time and by gosh that will be another story.

The game was a good game as games go and while marked with errors they passed unnoticed by reason of the fact that the spectators soon realized that every man was trying to do his best, even if it was a poor best. "Happy Voight of the Argus" pitched a fine game and Pruden and Harlow of The Freeman also pitched a good game, but it would have been better if they had only left those mince pies alone.

The Freeman players were Pruden, Harlow, Dittus, Cashin, McDonough, Kuehn, Munch, Woerner, Hobbs, Dougherty and Nolan.

TRUCK TURNED TURTLE.

Overtaken in Collision With Trolley Car on Broadway.

Because the brakes refused to work the automobile truck of Forsyth & Davis coming down the Broadway hill on Saturday afternoon heavily loaded got beyond the control of the driver and at Spring street ran away down the hill. As the truck started its wild run down the hill the driver, Jackson, remained at the steering wheel and wilding tooting his horn made every effort to stop the truck and with great skill avoided several narrow collisions. Near Mill street the sidewalk on Broadway is being relaid and the large sidewalk stones lay in the gutter. In order to avoid hitting them Jackson steered the truck out and towards the car tracks and then turned the truck in towards the gutter again. The truck was loaded high with boxes. As the machine swung in towards the gutter the boxes which extended over the tail board of the truck struck the last two seats of an upbound trolley car and nearly hit Thomas McCall, a passenger. The driver, after the collision, managed to turn the truck into Mill street and it had only run a short distance when it tipped over. So badly damaged was the truck that it had to be towed back to a garage for repairs. Fortunately no one was injured.

ATTACK DURAZZO

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Durazzo, Albania, June 15.—An army of Albanian rebels attacked this city early today and fierce fighting is now in progress.

The government of Prince William of Wied, the newest in Europe, will probably be overthrown unless foreign troops take a hand and drive off the insurgents.

Hundreds of residents of the city have taken refuge upon the foreign warships and merchantmen in the harbor and others have sought shelter in foreign consulates.

Rebel forces, most of whom were followers of Essad Pascha, a Mussulman, have been concentrating in the mountains east and north-east of this city and during the darkness of early morning they moved upon the eastern outposts in a surprise attack.

Heavy rifle fire aroused the city from sleep and reinforcements were immediately rushed to the outposts to support the hard pressed regulars. The small arm fire became incessant at daybreak and as soon as the position of the main bodies of rebels were located, artillery was turned upon them.

Bullets swept the city and shells from the old fashioned cannon captured by the rebels at Tirana last week did much damage to buildings. The rebels did not regard the foreign flags, but swept the entire city.

Prince William was in the palace when the battle broke, but his friends urged him to go on board a warship. The defenses of the city were regarded as weak and the capture of the city a strong probability.

The attack today comes as the climax of an uprising which followed the accession of Prince William to the throne of Albania. The Albanians are naturally a war-like race and objected to outside interference in their domestic affairs. They refused to pay taxes and the thousands of Mohammedans among the population refused to recognize Prince William because he is a Christian.

INGLORIOUS DEFEAT.

Mince Pie Cause of Downfall of Freeman Ball Tossers.

Because the members of The Freeman team refused to follow able advice and persisted in demolishing three mince pies, four bottles of soda pop, and a dozen frankfurters apiece they went down to an inglorious defeat at the Athletic Field on Saturday afternoon when the ball tossers of the Leader won the game by a score of 10 to 9. The opening paragraph of this story tells the sad tale. The Freeman players were top heavy and were not as speedy as usual. As the war correspondent remarked sadly after the game "I knew those mince pies would prove as lead to their feet" and as the game showed they did.

If, and by the way that "if" always plays an important part in the history of the world, they had only not indulged until after the game what a different ending it would have been. Not only did the ball tossers of The Freeman lose the game but Saturday night they lost considerable sleep as their over-taxed digestive organs rebelled at the strain they had been subjected to. Fortunately it was not necessary to call a doctor and they were all able to report for work today.

The Leader team is still busy patting itself on the back, but then they will not know the real reason of their victory until they read these few lines in tonight's paper. But let them beware, they will find the ball tossers of The Freeman will know better next time and by gosh that will be another story.

The game was a good game as games go and while marked with errors they passed unnoticed by reason of the fact that the spectators soon realized that every man was trying to do his best, even if it was a poor best. "Happy Voight of the Argus pitched a fine game and Pruden and Harlow of The Freeman also pitched a good game, but it would have been better if they had only left those mince pies alone.

The Freeman players were Pruden, Harlow, Dittus, Gashin, McDonough, Kuehn, Munch, Woerner, Hoben, Dougherty and Nolan.

Because the brakes refused to work the automobile truck of Forsyth & Davis coming down the Broadway hill on Saturday afternoon heavily loaded got beyond the control of the driver and at Spring street ran away down the hill. As the truck started its wild run down the hill the driver, Jackson, remained at the steering wheel and wilding tooting his horn made every effort to stop the truck and with great skill avoided several narrow collisions. Near Mill street the sidewalk on Broadway is being re-laid and the large sidewalk stones lay in the gutter. In order to avoid hitting them Jackson steered the truck out and towards the car tracks and then turned the truck in towards the gutter again. The truck was loaded high with boxes. As the machine swung in towards the gutter the boxes which extended over the tail board of the truck struck the last two seats of an upbound trolley car and nearly hit Thomas McCall, a passenger. The driver, after the collision, managed to turn the truck into Mill street and it had only run a short distance when it tipped over. Stallings Declares Frank Chance Has Finally Developed Real Centender —Lauds Caldwell.

Big Chief Stallings, the leader of the Braves, figures Frank Chance's New Yorks as the real dark horse of the American league.

"Chance is one of the greatest leaders in the game," said Stallings, in commenting on the club. "It has taken a whole lot of nerve, and a whole lot of executive ability to do what he has done. He simply cleaned house with all the dead wood Wolverton left and within a year he has built up what strikes me as one of the best balanced clubs in the Johnson circuit.

"There is no one in the American league that has any better pitchers than Chance. To my mind he has the greatest pitcher in the game in Caldwell. That fellow has the greatest curve ball I ever saw, and he's almost as much speed as Johnson. Fisher is a rattling pitcher. I am told that the young fellows who came after I left are equally promising. Their work to date has shown it true.

"Ed Sweeney is not traveling beyond his speed. For me in 1910 he was the best catcher in the American league. But the greatest player of all that Chance dug up is Jimmy Walsh. There is an outfielder for you, one of the very best in the game. How Frank ever got him away from the calculating Connie Mack I cannot figure. A manager has only to have a few players of the Walsh stamp to make a team.

"Where Chance really made his team was in the acquisition of Truesdale. I may be prejudiced but I think he is a better ball player than Maisel. He is as good a fielder as Maisel and will outlast him, too, in a season's stretch. Though no faster than Truesdale, Maisel is the better base runner. Fritz is one of the best base runners in the country. But Pitcher Caldwell of Yankees.

Fritz will not get any more bases on balls.

New York fans tell me Truesdale has looked like a bloomer with the stick. I cannot understand that. He should hit .250 in the American league.

And hitting .250 there will be few better second basemen. I think Truesdale must be a little nervous in his new surroundings. He will hit better the further he goes. I am sure. I used to bat him second in the order, because of his speed and his fine bunting skill. He legged out many a safety trying to sacrifice for my Buffalo club."

NOTES of the DIAMOND

Outfielder Tennant of Sacramento made four hits in four times up off Pitcher Malarkey of Oakland.

Vean Gregg's brother, Dave, has been turned back by Manager Birmingham of the Naps. He goes to Spokane.

Catcher Arthur Wilson has been hitting hard for the Chifed, but not sufficiently so to keep them out of the division.

One argument in favor of the Pirates' copying the National league hunting is that none of the experts picked them to do so.

Pat Ragon believes that to be in good shape he will have to pitch every other day, and he is pestering Manager Robinson to let him do it.

Heine Wagner, the Red Sox shortstop, denies the report he is through as a player and says he will be back on the job within a few weeks now.

Lou Criger, the once great catcher of the Boston Red Sox, who has lost his health, will be given a benefit by the players of the whole country.

Scout Chick Fraser is proving a valuable aid to Clarke. The former star pitcher is looking after the hurling corps, and his advice is being followed.

SAUGERTIES.

Saugerties, June 15.—Flag Day exercises were held Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's Church. The program consisted of the presentation of the flag by Henry L. Cox on behalf of St. Mary's Commandery, No. 145, Knights of St. John. The flag was accepted by the Rev. James Talbot. Dr. Coyle of New York delivered an address on "Patriotism," when the flag was unfurled. The children of the school sang the Star Spangled Banner. Among the many present were delegates from St. Mary's Commandery, No. 145, Knights of St. John J. R. Tappen Post, No. 125,

General Sharpe Sons of Veterans and the Women's Relief Corps.

Michael Malla, occupation a little bit of everything, is now spending 90 days in the Ulster county jail. Saturday Malla entered Alderman McLaughlin's cafe on South Partition street and demanded a drink. Upon being refused he hit McLaughlin a blow with his fist. Officers Kistner and Whitaker were called to the scene and after a tussle which lasted fifteen minutes they handcuffed Malla and brought him before Justice Coon, who gave him a sentence of 90 days.

Mrs. Nathan Van Steenberg and daughter Gladys of Main street are home from West Point, N. Y., where they attended the commencement exercises and annual hop.

Odd Fellows' Memorial service was held on Sunday afternoon at the Main street cemetery. Counselor William Thorpe of Catskill delivered the memorial address.

Porridge Unjustly Accused.

It is asserted and also denied that porridge was the cause of Thomas Carlyle's ruined digestion. Sir Richard Quain said porridge had nothing to do with his ruined digestion. Sir Richard stated in the British Medical Journal of November 9, 1855, that "the wretched dyspepsia to which Mr. Carlyle was subjected was fully accounted for by the fact that he was particularly fond of very nasty gingerbread. Many times I have seen him sitting in the corner smoking a clay pipe and eating this gingerbread."

Men and Music.
"Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast"—so that explains why men are more susceptible to music than women. It is the truth that all men respond to some kind of music, from Russian to ragtime, according to their tastes. Music is certainly a close second to a man's stomach as a road to that destination—his heart.

Only Way to Play Safe.
Rich Girl—"What advice can you give me? I'm so afraid the men care only for my money." Miss Cayenne—"My dear, don't marry any man to whom you would not trust your whole fortune, and then—don't trust him with it."—Livingstone Lanco.

Most Precious Possession.
When I see about me, in the fields of intellectual attainment and culture, in the walks of business and in family life, so many disasters and tragedies long drawn out, of failing health and collapse of nerve, brain and muscle, I feel that health is the only bulwark upon which everything we prize in intellectual culture and religious perfection can ever be reared.—G. Stanley Hall.

Value of Fruit Acids.
It is thought that acid fruits induce rheumatism. The contrary is true. Fruit acids taken into the system by a person, who has rheumatism act beneficially, and actually have the effect of increasing the alkalinity of the blood. Experiments have proved this conclusively. Thus a person who has too much uric acid in the blood should for a time eat fruit or acid fruit juices in large quantities.

It is the truth that all men respond to some kind of music, from Russian to ragtime, according to their tastes. Music is certainly a close second to a man's stomach as a road to that destination—his heart.

AN AFTERNOON WITH BURROUGHS

Through the introduction and courtesy of Miss Harriet Freer of Esopus, a party of some thirty-three young ladies, members of the Camp Fire Girls of St. John's, under the chaperonage of Miss Helena Clearwater; of the Dorcas Society, under the chaperonage of Miss Eloise Myers, and of the Kij Kuit Club, under the chaperonage of Mrs. C. N. Reed, with the Rev. Charles F. Kennedy, rector of St. John's Church, and a few friends, spent a delightfully memorable afternoon with John Burroughs at Slabslides and at his home at West Park on Saturday.

To begin with, it was indeed one of Lowell's "perfect days" in June, and the happily expectant party found earth decidedly "in tune," as they alighted from the train at West Park, for their genial, gracious host was awaiting their arrival. The precious afternoon started off with the climb to Slabslides. Only a few feet from the station, a bright-eyed little spaniel, whom Mr. Burroughs explained had adopted him, and who always accompanied him when he took parties to Slabslides, greeted his adopted master vociferously, then acted as guide to the party, occasionally running back to his natural friend to tell him of wayside discoveries. A flash of blue through the narrow hillside woods, followed by frightened harsh cries, told of a pair of blue jays in trouble. A nearby farm house offered the likely solution of the family cat, for the cries were too soon silenced for a black snake to have been the probable enemy, said Mr. Burroughs. The history of a growing oak "puff ball," interested all. Mr. Burroughs showed his guests how the young oak leaf, being stung by the insect laying its egg in its fibre, immediately stopped growing to be an oak leaf, and began to grow the strange house for its enemy. The feather-weight, light, shiny green ball was opened with a sharp knife. From the very center where slumbered the grub in its tiny bed there stretched gossamer cables to the outer shell of green, taut and tough enough to keep the wall in shape. The ripening of the leaf, the drying of the ball, was the time of the grub's release.

As the ascent increased the view broadened into a rarely beautiful panorama and then again began to close in as Slabslides was approached.

Those of the party who best knew and loved the author, almost held their breath as Slabslides, (the real Slabslides and not the imitation to be seen from the Hudson river), came in view. As Mr. Burroughs lovingly expressed it, "with the great rocks putting their arms about" him, close hid from the interrupting world, the little cottage, covered with its bark-covered slabs, rests and awaits its owner's coming, giving to him the solitude from which breathes those retreating messages which he sends out to a waiting and appreciative world. The rustic chair for the "chance guest" stood on the porch, and after bringing out other chairs for these invited guests, Mr. Burroughs, with the beautiful June sun shining through the softly moving leaves, upon the benignant face with its frame of silver hair, sat and chatted with his visitors.

He told how one summer day, some ten or eleven years ago, with the thermometer registering 96 degrees in the shade, he led Woodrow Wilson, now president of the United States, hot and well-nigh exhausted, up to this cool retreat and of the number of pitchers of the delicious spring water which Saturday's guests were enjoying, that it took to cool him off. Mr. Burroughs also told the girls most entertainingly of his recent visit from Mr. Ford, of automobile fame, and of his two bits of emphatic instruction regarding the running of his Ford car. Mr. Burroughs explained that they were going along the wood road, and he was occasionally pointing to this or that view, when Mr. Ford exclaimed: "Burroughs, keep both your hands on the wheel! Keep 'em there all the time! And don't drive fast through the cities," which latter piece of advice Mr. Burroughs told with an amused chuckle.

Presently the party were invited to inspect the interior of Slabslides, which is just as "slabby" inside as outside, except that the interior slabs, for the most part of yellow birch and beautiful, are smaller than their exterior brothers. There can be no doubt about Mr. Burroughs' appreciation of the "simple life."

"FLORENCE" AUTOMATIC OIL STOVES---THE BEST

Wickless, Valveless, Blue Flame---You Just Turn a Lever and "Florence" Does the Rest---Economy and Comfort

THE CONVENIENCE

Instead of having to resuscitate a coal fire or start a wood fire, to those who have a Florence-Automatic oil cooking stove, it is a simple case of turning a lever, lighting a match and without further attention a clean, powerful blue flame is generated to do your bidding.

THE COST

A cent an hour for each burner---is less than the cost of coal times over, less than wood even where wood is plentiful, less than any other fuel.

A LABOR SAVER

It is more or less of a shame to keep harping away on the same old facts---"no coal to lug"--"no ashes to sift"--but these are stern realities, just the same, which resolve themselves into memories of a by-gone day when a Florence-Automatic comes into your home.

SUMMER COMFORT

The dread of having to get supper over a hot stove has spoiled many a woman's summer afternoon. Here is where Florence-Automatic Oil Stoves prove their worth, for the powerful Blue Flame being concentrated at the griddle does not heat out into the room.

THE LEVER DOES IT

Florence-Automatic success is due, in part, to the lever---that simple device by which the burner is raised and lowered. When the oil holding bowl is lowered, oil runs in---when it is raised oil runs out and by stationing the burner at different points a "High," "Low," or "Medium" flame as desired may be obtained.

NEW IDEAS IN OVENS

And speaking of ovens, insist on seeing the Florence Ovens and having them explained to you in the interest of fine cooking, baking and roasting.

HEAT WHEN WANTED

And the burners obey like soldiers! Operate the lever and you are as sure of the results as the engineer who opens and closes the throttle. This is where the Florence-Automatic differs and excels---immediate, accurate control of the heat at all times.

A HANDY SHELF

An attractive mantel shelf, as illustrated herewith, will prove useful in many ways---for warming plates, accommodating cooking utensils, tea and coffee pot, dishes, etc.

These tops can also be furnished for the two burner and four burner high frame stoves. They may be attached to your stove or not as desired and fit any model Florence-Automatic.

Florence-Automatic Oil Stoves are manufactured in one, two, three and four burners, both high and low frames. Prices and specifications of sizes not shown herewith furnished upon request.

WILL PAY FOR ITSELF WITHIN A YEAR

It is hereby stated as a fact, and it is a fact, that a Florence-Automatic Oil Stove will easily save its cost in a year's time, if used in place of a coal stove and if operated with Reasonable Economy under ordinary conditions.

To say nothing of precious moments saved and comfort gained.

WHAT ONE WOMAN SAID

As one bright woman remarked---"When the Florence-Automatic entered my door three-quarters of my trials and troubles went out." As a labor saving device the Florence-Automatic Blue Flame Oil Cooking Stove has won a niche of its own.

The large living room, made especially attractive with a stone fireplace and ceiling or side wall adornments of strange or beautiful pieces of natural wood, is simply furnished with rustic chairs, tables, etc., made of the birch trees. While this is also kitchen and dining room, it is the book-lined walls that attract one especially. In the corner between two windows, and surrounded by his author friends, men and women of many minds, Mr. Burroughs spends considerable time in writing in the spring and fall. He often stays so late in the winter, that a snow fall catching him, he is obliged to break a way down the mountain in order that he and Rover, before mentioned, may not be quite snowed in. Two rustic beds occupy an alcove off this room, and upstairs is to be found the guest chamber of honor. Here the rustic bed, made within the room, has as its precious covering, a blue and white counterpane, the handiwork of the author's mother.

As one sat at his desk and wrote in the rapidly filling guest book, by no means the original edition either, shadowy forms of the many people who have or are, counting as real men and women in the great world, men and women who appreciate genuineness and beauty of life, grouped themselves about the open fire place, or silently climbed the stairs or read the books, and then passed on out into the busy world, taking with them the benediction and inspiration of their host and his tree home on the hill top.

Before leaving Slab Sides several kodak pictures were taken, two of the entire party, and others of Mr. Burroughs who was greatly interested in their arranging and posing and who told how he, his Ford car and Rover had all been recently taken for the "Movies."

But Slab Sides was not to be all of the day's pleasure, for Mr. Burroughs invited the girls to go down to his home at West Park and see his study. Part of the number started on ahead, going down by the well beaten roadway, while others waited for their host, putting indoors all but the "chance guest" chair and closing Slab Sides, to which they said a reluctant farewell, yet thankful that the privilege had been theirs to be welcomed there.

As they started on the downward climb, Mr. Burroughs asked his special body guard if they were good at a rough climb. Their ready affirmative response, brought forth the suggestion that they take the steep road, down through the woods, and head off the retreating party at a point where they would be least expected. Steep it was and rough it was, and fine it was, and not one of that party would have missed it for anything. Not one of them will ever forget the picture of Mr. Burroughs standing against a great protecting, back-supporting tree, and laughing as he told of bringing Theodore Roosevelt, not down, but up this steep way to Slab Sides. Mr. Burroughs admitted that when he reached this particular tree, halfway to the top, he was glad to stop and rest against his forest friend. "It was hot when we came up," he said, "but you may be very sure 'T. R.' did not rest against any tree. No, sir. He wanted to go right along. He always does. Yes, he is a great man."

There was a merry and surprised meeting of the "retreating" and "advancing" parties on the highway and the entire group adjourned to the store at the station and all indulged in ice cream cones before going on to Mr. Burroughs' beautiful river home, with its surrounding grape vineyards on which the naturalist may well pride himself.

Another rest, and the "study," a small detached house, commanding a magnificent Hudson river view was invaded. Here it was learned, that Mr. Burroughs did the greater part of his writing, especially the many magazine articles which have quite recently come from his pen. Some one exclaiming over the fine photograph of Mr. Burroughs, only to be told that it was not of Mr. Burroughs at all but of Walt Whitman. Mr. Burroughs said he would place one of his photos beside that of Whitman that they might see the difference. There was a difference, but the two placed so close together but intensified the impression of rare likeness, especially in that peculiar uplift of the eye so noticeable in the constant, keen observer of nature. Here a half hour of reminiscent talk from their host was enjoyed, and several of the girls were given, what to them will be for life a priceless treasure, attractive snap shot photos of Mr. Burroughs, bearing his autograph written at his desk with the girls about him.

The party were further entertained in the summer house overlooking the river, while waiting for their boat, and greatly appreciated Mr. Burroughs' description of the family's efforts to wrest a few delicious cherries from one tree appropriated by the robins. His first efforts at cherry preserving were told to be the placing of a stuffed owl in the tree.

He said "Why that owl stirred up the awfulest commotion along the river and back in the country, that you ever heard of. One robin told nearly every robin the entire length of the Hudson river came to see that owl, and while they were here they savagely and vindictively snatched a cherry or two from under the very bill of that wise old stuffed bird. 'We had to take away that owl to save the tree.' Another time they swathed the tree, spending hours to do the act well, in a great fish net. The robins, nothing daunted, got under the net and then in their greedy struggles hung themselves so often that it was found to take too much time to save their lives by disentangling them, and that plan was abandoned with the net. Finally a large dinner bell was hung in the tree, arranged so that it could be rung from the house, and, said Mr. Burroughs, with a twinkle of the eye, "they recognized that it was a dinner bell and promptly came to the cherry dinner." The tree is now the robins, but woe betide them if they trespass on any other cherry tree there.

All too soon the little boat was seen steaming up from Poughkeepsie, and the party were forced to say "good bye" to their kind and gracious host. As they left him they expressed their profound delight in the afternoon spent with him and their sincere appreciation of his generosity in devoting so much time to their entertainment. His answer might have been expected, from John Burroughs. It was: "That is really what we live for, to make others happy and it has been a pleasure to have you all here." As the visitors went down through the vineyard to the boat-landing they turned back to see their venerable and beloved host standing high above them, not under, but surrounded by his "own grape vine" and waving a kindly and smiling farewell to them all.

JUDGE PARKER ASSAILS TEDDY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New Haven, Conn., June 15.—Without mentioning the name of Theodore Roosevelt, Judge Alton B. Parker of New York, once candidate for president on the Democratic ticket, assailed the ex-president today in an address to the graduating class of the Yale Law School. He said in part:

"Something is radically wrong in the mental processes of the electorate or else patriotism is at its last gasp, when with hardly a whisper of protest a retired chief executive may brag to the representatives of the people of his treasonable scheme to intrude upon state rights and violate otherwise the fundamental law by establishing a military receivership of coal mines, pending a strike, admitting without a suspicion of decent shame that he had well considered that his offense might be impeachable if committed. 'Impeachable,' of course, only because of the acts planned, would have been unconstitutional and lawless."

"The country needs a host of clear-headed, active men in the electorate who shall discern and brand with infamy it deserves every assault upon the constitutional foundation of our liberty and prosperity and happiness. 'Our forefathers, clear of head and far of sight, anticipated just such vicious attacks by those in power and sought to ensure us a government of laws and not of men. And through their wisdom such a government is ours for a little vigilance.'"

"The duty and opportunity of vigilance not alone upon fundamental and state officials for the courts, but primarily upon the men with the ballots. And since lawyers understand how imperative it is that the necessary law be respected and obeyed vigilance lies heavy upon the legal profession. Therefore I call upon you to stand ever ready to do battle against every enemy of constitutional law and liberty."

Chance to Enjoy Camp Life.

At the last regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Central Y. M. C. A. it was decided that one boy between the ages of 12 and 18 years should be sent by the auxiliary for two weeks to the Y. M. C. A. camp, "Camp Anawana." Every boy in the city who is eligible to go to a summer camp this year should devise some plan whereby he can improve this excellent opportunity for securing their two weeks of camp training. The Ladies' Auxiliary are glad to make this out-lying possible to some boys who feel that he cannot afford the small camp of $8 for two weeks. There are only three more weeks after this Tuesday before the boys leave for their camp near Hurleyville, Sullivan Co. N. Y.

Where Values Are Relative.

"How much is this picture worth?" asked the salesman. "That depends," replied the dealer. "How much is the man who wants to buy it worth?"

The Soft Answer.

It is hard telling just what attitude to take with regard to the allegations and alleged misstatements and unkind remarks of other people. It does not pay to be too thin skinned. Besides, the other fellow may have been misquoted; and even if he said it, this saying sometimes does not make it so. Ignoring a thing of that sort brings it to the quietest death in the world and turns bad feeling into good. There is a book that says: "A soft answer turneth away wrath."—Los Angeles Times.

Liberty.

Liberty is the right to do what the law allows; and if a citizen could do what they forbid it would be no longer liberty, because others would have the same power.—Montesquieu.

Oypress.

Forest botanists recognize only one cypress in the United States. Its range extends from Delaware southward around the coast into Texas and up the Mississippi valley to Illinois and Indiana. It is one of the few cone-bearing trees which drop their leaves in winter. The heartwood of cypress is noted for its decay-resistant properties.

Lesser Evil.

The millionaire had been dead six months, and those months had been mighty busy ones for the heirs, what with will contests, law suits, family quarrels, etc. One day one of the boys said bitterly: "This internal mix-up almost makes me wish father hadn't died."

"A Thing Apart."

Yes, "Love is to a man a thing apart," and woman had better be reconciled to the idea. If it were not so, how could he be the alert business success, the ample provider for the home, that he is? Yet woman expects all this of him. Remember, we can not eat our cake and have it, too. The man who was always a lover would be a business failure.—Kansas City Star.

Real Test.

A well-behaved man never knows whether his wife loves him or not. But let him commit a crime, and she will not only proclaim her affection, but she will stand by him in a manner to attract the attention and admiration of the civilized world.—Topeka Capital.

"Something is radically wrong in the mental processes of the electorate or else patriotism is at its last gasp, when with hardly a whisper of protest a retired chief executive may brag to the representatives of the people of his treasonable scheme to intrude upon state rights and violate otherwise the fundamental law by establishing a military receivership of coal mines, pending a strike, admitting without a suspicion of decency that his offense might be impeachable if committed—impeachable, of course, only because of the acts planned, would have been unconstitutional and lawless."

"Our forefathers, clear of head and far of sight, anticipated just such vicious attacks by those in power and sought to ensure us a government of laws and not of men. And through their wisdom such a government is ours for a little vigilance."

"The duty and opportunity of vigilance not alone upon fundamental and state officials for the courts, but primarily upon the men with the ballots. And since lawyers understand how imperative it is that the necessary law be respected and obeyed vigilance lies heavy upon the legal profession. Therefore, I call upon you to stand ever ready to do battle against every enemy of constitutional law and liberty."

Chance to Enjoy Camp Life.

At the last regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Central Y. M. C. A. it was decided that one boy between the ages of 12 and 18 years should be sent by the auxiliary for two weeks to the Y. M. C. A. camp, "Camp Anawana." Every boy in the city who is eligible to go to a summer camp this year should devise some plan whereby he can improve this excellent opportunity for securing their two weeks of camp training. The Ladies' Auxiliary are glad to make this out-lying possible to some boys who feel that he cannot afford the small camp of $8 for two weeks. There are only three more weeks after this Tuesday before the boys leave for their camps near Hurleyville, Sullivan Co., N. Y.

"How much is this picture worth?" asked the salesman. "That depends," replied the dealer. "How much is the man who wants to buy it worth?"

DRAPERY, OR ABSENCE OF IT, AT BIG PAGEANT SHOCKS CLUBWOMEN.

(Yvonne Chappelle.)

Chicago, June 15.—Weighty matters like suffrage, uplift for the rural folks, problems of civic and social betterment and other topics the Federation of Women's Clubs Convention is wrestling with gave place today to a discussion of the question of where art ends and immodesty begins in Greek pageants. Some 3,000 delegates who had previously issued a clarion call for dress reform, were embarrassed at the presentation of the "Worship of Apollo" and the "Revels of the Daphne," and many left before the entertainment was finished, so they're talking about it today. Daphne (Miss Yvonne Chappelle) was a beautiful girl. There was dancing and revellings led by Apollo and Daphne. One of Apollo's stunts was to catch Daphne and carry her above his head while dancing. The flowing robes of the girls were slashed to the hips. Shoulders and arms were bare. The scanty attire of the Olympians was imitated to a hot weather degree.

The Soft Answer.

It is hard telling just what attitude to take with regard to the allegations and alleged misstatements and unkind remarks of other people. It does not pay to be too this element. Besides, the other fellow may have been misquoted; and even if he said it, this saying sometimes does not make it so. Ignoring a thing of that sort brings it to the quickest death in the world and turns bad feeling into good. There is a book that says: "A soft answer turneth away wrath."—Los Angeles Times.

Liberty.

Liberty is the right to do what the law allows; and if a citizen could do what they forbid it would be no longer liberty, because others would have the same power.—Montesquieu.

Cypress.

Forest botanists recognize only one cypress in the United States. Its range extends from Delaware southward around the coast into Texas and up the Mississippi valley to Illinois and Indiana. It is one of the few cone-bearing trees which drop their leaves in winter. The heartwood of cypress is noted for its decay-resistant properties.

Lesser Evil.

The millionaires had been dead six months, and those months had been mighty busy ones for the heirs, what with will contests, law suits, family quarrels, etc. One day one of the boys said bitterly: "This infernal mix-up almost makes me wish father hadn't died."

"A Thing Apart."

Yes, "Love is to a man a thing apart," and women had better be reconciled to the idea. If it were not so, how could he be the short business success, the ample provider for the home, that he is? Yet woman expects all this of him. Remember, we cannot eat our cake and have it, too. The man who was always a lover would be a business failure.—Kansas City Star.

Real Test.

A well-behaved man never knows whether his wife loves him or not. But let him commit a crime, and she will not only proclaim her affection, but she will stand by him in a manner to attract the attention and admiration of the civilized world.—Topeka Capital.

DEATH TODAY OF CAPT. VAN KEUREN

Captain William S. Van Keuren, a prominent legislator, brave soldier, well known steamboat man, and identified with many worthy projects in a long and eventful life, most of which was spent in Ulster county, died this afternoon at his residence on Albany avenue. About two years ago he suffered a stroke of apoplexy and had practically been confined to the house since then. Of late he had been gradually growing weaker until the end came today.

Captain Van Keuren was perhaps best known as captain of the steamer City of Kingston, which plied the waters of the Hudson river between Rondout and New York for many years until sold to parties in Oregon and was taken around Cape Horn.

The assembly Captain Van Keuren, on account of his complete knowledge in maritime circles, was appointed state inspector of vessels on inland waters. This position he filled with credit to himself and the state for a number of years.

William S. Van Keuren was born at Pleasant Plains, Dutchess county, where he spent his youth, being educated at Dr. Hoyt's private school. At the breaking out of the civil war he enlisted in the One Hundred and Fifty-fifth Regiment, New York State Volunteers, which was recruited in Dutchess county. A year later he was promoted to captain of his company for bravery. Captain Van Keuren was twice wounded, once slightly at Resaca and very severely wounded by bullets through both thighs at Peach Creek. He was mustered out at the close of the war having been brevetted major.

Returning to his home Captain Van Keuren became active in navigation circles and commanded many large steamers on the river. In this line he was engaged for about twenty years. In 1895, 1896 and 1897 he was elected to the state assembly and served on some of its most important committees. Captain Van Keuren was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and many other organizations. He is survived by his wife and two sons, Horace of New York, and William of this city. The funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. Frank B. Seeley of the Fair Street Reformed Church but the funeral arrangements will not be announced until the return home of Mr. Seeley.

Planned to Blow Up Society at Horse Show.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. London, June 15.—While thousands of the leading members of British society were watching the judging at the international horse show at Olympia this afternoon, the police arrested a suffragette who had planned to blow up the building.

They found a bomb concealed under the woman's coat. She had disguised herself by donning the garb of a nurse and carried a baby in her arms. Her lettering near the stalls of the most valuable horses entered for the show excited suspicion and she was finally seized.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 15.—With trading light and a tone of extreme hesitation prevailing the stock market opened with nearly all issues fractionally lower today. Practically all of the transactions came from commission houses and traders look for a period of dullness until the decision of the interstate commerce commission upon the demand of the Eastern railways for permission to advance freight rates is handed down.

The precarious condition of the mediation conference, the growing likelihood of another war in the Balkans and the threatened financial panic in France are all contributing causes to market depression.

Among the declines in the first trading were:

Amalgamated Copper, 1/4; United States Steel Common, 1/4; Union Pacific, 1/4; Canadian Pacific, 1/4; Reading, 1/4; New York Central, 1/4 and Erie, 1/4.

Southern Pacific began unchanged, then shaded.

The curb was quiet. Americans in London were dull.

There were some wide movements in the number of specialties in the late forenoon and the majority of the list sold at slight concessions.

Amalgamated Copper, B. R. T., Missouri Pacific and Union Pacific were off 1/4. Canadian Pacific sold off 1/4 to 193 3/4. Steel common, Erie and Pennsylvania R. R. declined 1/4. Call money loaning at 1 1/4.

Missouri Pacific and Denver and Rio Grande, both Gould stocks, showed further losses in the afternoon trading.

St. Louis Southwestern Common followed the decline of the preferred, selling around 1 1/4, a net loss of 3 points. Later, however, Metropolitan issues also were weak, both the common and preferred being offered at concessions. In the last hour steel, Amalgamated Copper, Reading, Union Pacific and other prominent issues were sluggish.

The stock market closed dull. Governments unchanged, other bonds steady.

WILL SUE NEW HAVEN DIRECTORS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Boston, June 15.—Gov. Walsh has taken steps to compel the New Haven R. R. to sue its directors and recover the millions the directors illegally expended during the past ten years, it became known today. He has asked the attorney general whether the public service commission has not power to proceed to this end under the act by which the commissions was established last year.

If the attorney general reports that the commission cannot act under present laws, Governor Walsh will present a special message to the legislature, asking it to inaugurate one of the two following plans:

First—Direct the commission to proceed against the old directors for wasteful and extravagant expenditures which never would have been authorized if that board had been given an opportunity to pass upon them.

D. A. R. Celebrate Flag Day.

Mrs. Hyman Roosa, regent of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R., together with some twenty-five or thirty members of the chapter, motored to Saugerties on Saturday, in accordance of the invitation of Saugerties Chapter to celebrate Flag Day with them. Both chapters were the guests of Mrs. Charles A. Spalding at her beautiful old home, "Falling Water." This fine old estate, with its spacious and delightfully rambling old house which has been in the Spalding family for over two hundred years, is rich not only in associations of the historic past, but also in rare China, old furniture and relics of former days. Soon after the arrival of the guests, a bugle call assembled the entire gathering, some seventy-five persons, to the nearby grove which had been made patriotic with American flags, and where a platform had been erected for the exercises of the afternoon.

Miss Lamb, regent of Saugerties Chapter, welcomed all, thus opening the program. "America" was sung by all present and was followed by the invocation, given by the Rev. J. V. Wemple. The address of the afternoon was given by the Rev. Thomas Cole, in which he most interestingly told of the geological history of the Hudson river. Then calling attention to its source and the narrow strip of land between that and Lake Champlain, forming so strategic a point for war operations, he closed his able address with the words: "The historic Hudson river, the parent, Wiltwyck Chapter, and its flourishing daughter, the Saugerties Chapter, was given by Mrs. C. C. James. It was listened to with closest attention by all. A cornet solo, in the distance, was most effective and inspiring. The Saugerties Chapter offered money prizes of value to the two high school pupils who should prepare and present the best essays on "Alexander Hamilton and the Influence on the Tariff Question from his to the Present Time." Essays were read by Luther Ben and Christine Myer, both of whom won the prizes and they were remarkably good from every viewpoint. The prizes were awarded by the regent, Miss Lamb. Mrs. Roosa, regent of Wiltwyck Chapter, the mother of the entertaining chapter, then called upon to speak for her chapter, which she did most graciously, heartily complimenting the Saugerties Chapter on their growth, progress and enterprise and bespeaking an even larger and more influential future for them. Refreshments were then served on the grounds overlooking the Hudson. A second bugle call assembled the party to the house to participate in the formal lowering of the flag, the "Star Spangled Banner" being sung during the exercise. After enjoying the beautiful home, filled with the romance of the past, the guests departed their delightful hostesses a farewell which included their enthusiastic expressions of delight and appreciation of the charming afternoon enjoyed at "Falling Water," whose hospitality Mrs. Spalding so graciously extended to all.

It should be stated in connection with the recent visit of Mrs. Edna Ford Maguire of Catskill, right worthy district deputy grand matron of the Eleventh Eastern Star district of Charles E. Thorpe of Saugerties, right worthy assistant grand lecturer to Clinton Chapter, No. 445, O. E. S., made on Friday evening, that the degree work of the matron, Mrs. Elizabeth Wallace, and her eighteen officers was considered remarkably fine, calling forth much complimentary comment. Mrs. Phoebe Roosa, past matron and organizer of the local chapter, presented the gift of Clinton Chapter, O. E. S., a box of cigars, to Mr. Thorpe, while Mrs. E. L. Angle, also past matron, was the one to present Mrs. Maguire with a handsome cut glass bowl, as a gift from the chapter.

MENKE'S DAILY
SPORTS REVIEW

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, June 15.—Dethroning
a pugilistic champion is a mighty hard job, as the records of the past and present will show. Not only do many aspirants offer themselves on the altar of sacrifice before the crown snatcher finally arrives,
but even then the dethroning person usually has to extend himself to the extreme limit to send the old champ into the discard.

John L. Sullivan reigned supreme in the heavyweight division for many years, beating all opponents with ease. Then Jim Corbett came along and proved himself the master of the crown wearer, but not before 21 rounds of the most terrific fighting even seen in America.

Corbett then defended the crown against all comers until freckled Bob Fitzsimmons loomed along the horizon. Bob got a match with Corbett finally, but it took him 14 top-speed rounds to take unto himself the laurel that Corbett had taken from Sullivan.

Jeffries, with twice the bulk of Fitz, had to go 11 furious rounds before he became the champion.
Jack Johnson, in his prime in 1910, was forced to battle for 15 rounds before he whipped Jeffries, although Jeff was then but a shadow of his former self.

Battling Nelson, in the prime of his career, met Joe Gans, then on the downgrade, in the lightweight championship battle years ago. Yet Gans, weakened by age, by two strenuous training and by dissipation, forced the wonderful batter to go 17 rounds before he could grab
the crown from the dusky dome, and then Nelson, after beating all those who had faced him in the interim, took on Al Wolgast, the
"Michigan Wildcat."

Constant fighting and added years had sapped much of Nelson's strength. Wolgast, young and fresh, in perfect condition, won from the Dane after 41 rounds of terrific millage.

But the Dane lost his title while still on his fight. Beaten almost to a pulp, delirious with pain, the old fighting instinct would not down, and Nelson kept on from the 30th round until in the 41st. Then, when he was just a bleeding crushed wreck of a human being, the referee led him to his corner and despite the Dane's mumbled protests, gave the battle and the crown to Wolgast, who, too, was in a terribly battered condition.

It took Willie Ritchie 16
rounds to win from Wolgast —and then his victory was seemed to be about even in the 15th, the fight looked good to go to the limit. When the 16th opened Ritchie swung at Wolgast and landed. The champion countered and a whirlwind mix-up ensued, during which Wolgast hit too low—and the fight was over. The world was hailing a new champion.

Terry McGovern caught George Dixon when the negro was on the down grade and put him out in 8 rounds. Stanley Ketchell beat Joe Thomas and took the middleweight championship from him—but the fight went 32 rounds.

Abe Attell, a champion for many years, went the limit 20 rounds with Johnny Kilbane and lost his featherweight title on points. It was a battle of age against youth—and the latter won. But the margin was small. Attel for several years before had been on the down grade. Kil-bane had been rushing along at top speed. Yet the old boxing master gave the youth a mighty fight before he relinquished his title.

It took Frank Erne 10 rounds to win from Kid (George) Lavigne even though Erne had youth in his favor. Jack Dempsey stood up under the merciless fusillade of Fitzsimmons for 13 rounds before he took the count.

Of course, there are a few exceptions to the general rule that champions are hard to beat. Joe Gans knocked out Champion Frank Erne in less than a round, and young Corbett needed less than two rounds to send Terry McGovern to the mat and take his title. But the exceptions are rare.

A statistician who gathered the "done" on all the battles in which titles changed hands in all classes during the last 30 years has discovered that the average time it takes to dethrone a champion is a fraction less than 20 rounds, which shows that champions die rather hard.

RANCHERS MISSING.

Fear They Were Killed in Eruption of Mt. Lassen.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Red Bluff, Cal., June 15.—Searchers left today in an effort to find trace of two ranchers who started up the side of Mount Lassen shortly before the last eruption and never returned. Fears were expressed today that they had perished. The men were Hiram Blodgett and Hugh Addison. Two other members of the party, Lance Graham and Floyd Dible, were badly injured. Dible's mind is believed to be affected. Little hope was held out for Graham's recovery.

Great volumes of smoke and ashes continue to come from the mouth of the crater today. The continued eruptions, many believe, indicate that the tremendous energy is accumulating and a violent eruption is momentarily expected.

RANCHERS MISSING.

Fear They Were Killed in Eruption of Mt. Lassen.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Red Bluff, Cal., June 15.—Searchers left today in an effort to find trace of two ranchers who started up the side of Mount Lassen shortly before the last eruption and never returned. Fears were expressed today that they had perished. The men were Hiram Blodgett and Hugh Addison. Two other members of the party, Lance Graham and Floyd Dibble, were badly injured. Dibble's mind is believed to be affected. Little hope was held out for Graham's recovery.

Great volumes of smoke and ashes continue to come from the mouth of the crater today. The continued eruptions, many believe, indicate that the tremendous energy is accumulating and a violent eruption is momentarily expected.

NEW GARDEN THEATER.

It Will Be Ready for Business This Week.

James L. Grogan of New York, who is associated with Harry F. Groves in conducting the new Garden theater at Broadway between Field Court and Cornell street, went to New York Sunday evening to arrange for the opening of the theater the early part of this week. Mr. Grogan was formerly manager of the New York State Soldiers and Sailors' Home Theater and recently closed a successful season as road manager of the farce comedy, "The Elvish Youth," which played the principal cities from coast to coast. He has also been a newspaper man. The new theater is rapidly nearing completion and is a thing of beauty. It will be 25 feet wide and 105½ feet deep. The sides and ends are enclosed and there is no roof. It is to be completely equipped in every detail for motion pictures which will be given nightly with a change of program every night. A fine musical program will be given also. No expense has been spared to provide every convenience and comfort. There will be an ornate front in white with a large arch of electric lights. There will be seats for over 500 people.

MONUMENTS

that are bought of unknown solicitors very often discolor and deteriorate—so why not purchase the memorial of a concern with a local reputation of good work?

The monument is something that is to last for all time—therefore, only the finest quality of granite or marble should be used and the best of skill in lettering, etc.

Our designs are beautiful and our prices reasonable—may we submit them to you?
